

HOW TO GET INVOLVED

The European Observatory is a networking space to share and disseminate information regarding the service-learning methodology in higher education across the 49 European countries.

(i) Sharing your experience

Contribute to mapping service-learning in European higher education. Fill in the form will take you less than 10 minutes.

(i) Sharing a good practice

To be published on the website. It can take you up to one hour but you can do it in more than one session.

(i) Sharing grey literature, book releases, reports and dissertations

EOSLHE is creating a database with references of resources related to service-learning in higher education.

(i) Sharing events and news

We are delighted to publish and disseminate any news and events taking place in Europe

RESOURCE LIBRARY

The EOSLHE search tool will return a list of materials always related to the field of service-learning in higher education.

	General search
	Type of materials
	Country
	Discipline
	Service area
	Date
	Academic degree
	Type of institution
	Type of instruction
	Type of interaction
	Language

The tool has been designed to help the users to narrow their search. Users can do a general search or limit it by combining 10 filters.

European Observatory
of Service-Learning
in Higher Education

Aims to promote service-learning as a pedagogical approach that embeds and develops civic engagement within European higher education.

www.eoslhe.eu

FOLLOW US:

@EOSLHE

You may contact us at:

contact@eoslhe.eu

Please, don't forget to subscribe to the newsletter

www.eoslhe.eu

Keep me as a pagemarker

MISSION

EOSLHE aims to collect experiences and identify good practices for developing a well-structured and updated repository of service-learning in higher education across Europe.

VISION

Within the next three years the Observatory is recognised as the service-learning resource center of reference for researchers, teachers, students, higher education institutions, social entities and policy makers.

KEY INITIATIVES

- ✓ Facilitating the formalisation of the European Association of Service-Learning in Higher Education (EASLHE).
- ✓ Mapping service-learning experiences across Europe.
- ✓ Identification of good practices.
- ✓ Dissemination of service-learning resources, publications, events and news.
- ✓ Carrying out research.
- ✓ Promotion of knowledge management, exchange of experiences and partnerships.
- ✓ Publication of annual reports on the state of the art of service-learning in European higher education.
- ✓ Development of tools and resources for data analysis.
- ✓ Support for developing service-learning experiences, programme and processes of institutionalisation.